

I CLAIM:

1. A shower device comprising:
 - a conduit including a bore formed therein,
 - a tube including a lower portion slidably engaged into said
 - 5 bore of said conduit, to allow said tube to be adjusted up and down relative to said conduit,
 - a shower head attached to said tube and moved up and down together with said tube,
 - a control ferrule attached to said conduit and said tube, and
 - 10 including at least one first sealing ring engaged between said conduit and said control ferrule, to make a water tight seal between said conduit and said control ferrule, and including at least one second sealing ring engaged between said tube and said control ferrule, to make a water tight seal between said tube and said
 - 15 control ferrule, and
 - means for attaching said tube to a supporting surface.
2. The shower device as claimed in claim 1, wherein said conduit includes an outer thread formed thereon, said control ferrule includes an inner thread formed therein to thread with said outer
- 20 thread of said conduit.
3. The shower device as claimed in claim 1, wherein said attaching means includes a bracket secured to the supporting surface, and having a ring to support said tube.